About the Lawrence T. Geraty & Douglas R. Clark Center for Near Eastern Archaeology

We engage and collaborate with local and global communities to foster interest in the ancient cultures of the Near East. We responsibly conserve and display artifacts from the Near East in a manner mutually beneficial for both the communities from which they came and the community in which the artifacts now reside.

As part of the H.M.S. Richards Divinity School at La Sierra University, we provide educational resources and research opportunities for students, scholars, and the public. By promoting awareness of the past, particularly the biblical past, we aim to construct a better future for religious and secular communities alike.
