What Shall We Say?

Policy Stated

Editorials in the last issue of the CRITERION brought a scornful letter from one student and the last issue of the campus newspaper, the Criterion, was spoiled by a few angry comments from a group of students. There were no compliments to balance the picture, but the charge leveled by some ranks the important and direct influences that are at work in the Seventh-day Adventist college press.

There are several possible answers to this situation. The student editor should be to serve the students in student opinion, sometimes it means the condemnation of student errors. And even if it could be determined that the majority of the students are in error, perhaps they are wrong, or misguided. Perhaps the majority opinion of the student body is wrong, and the only responsible, mature, Christian attitude to take is to sell to the majority of opinion of any student body as much a limitation on the freedom of the college press as it would be to sell to the majority opinion of the college faculty.

Journaltist responsibility demands that an editor and his staff weigh the pros and cons of an issue, investigating all the facts involved, before they believe to be right.

The criterion's included responsibility and in the press this is especially true. Freedom of the press is possible only within the framework of the law and well placed on any subject at any time. It means freedom to say what you believe, if you are responsible for what you say.

The editorial function of the Seventh-day Adventist college press requires that the editor support the policy of the college. Sometimes this means voicing the ideas that are not necessarily those of the majority student opinion. Sometimes this means criticism of the financial and fiscal policies of the press for the faculty. But always it means a genuine effort to be fair, to be honest, and to be responsible.

What Shall We Do?

Center Reviewed

"There has been a lot of talk on campus these first four weeks of school. Dissatisfaction, griping, complaining talking about how the new student center is. What happened to our $500,000? Why aren't they doing anything?" That's all it's been—just talk. No action.

Earlier this morning, a group of 10 students who decided to quit talking and take action met with three members of the administration. They asked questions—some with and some without definite answers, but nonetheless, answers.

To start all the discussion, a questionnaire was prepared on everyone from the archivists to the construction directors. The building committee, the ruling Commission, who insisted on perfection levels.

But we cannot blame any one person or any one group. The blame is evenly spread around: the administration, the students, the faculty, the construction crew, and even on us, the students.

To begin, has God's view of the student center been an interest in the future. We need to look toward the future, the next three months, and see what will and can happen.

An important step in this process is a schedule of tentative completion dates for the Center. Relayed this week by the administration, these dates can become a reality if there are no major changes and if there is a steady supply of student labor. Most of the "hogs" have been worked out of the Center, so it is the job of the students to work on the other "I." If you have any experience in carpentry, masonry, plumbing, electrical work, writing or plastering, contact the maintenance department and offer your services to help get the job done.

Now is the time to all back apathetically that drudgery and drudgery and drudgery. Now is not the time to say, "I knew this would happen one way or the other." Now is the time to say, "I'm going to be someone on campus. Now is the time for action." Let's get together tomorrow and see if we can do something about the student center.

Not only the administration, the faculty, the constituency, that which is the student center, but we, the students, as well. Let's be in our Center by December—X-V.Y.

Letter To a Thief

Naturally, I don't want to enthrone you publicly, but you have crossed boundaries, broken barriers, and in short, made a mess of a stdent center. "Hall of Pride." Two questions come to mind: Who are you and why are you here? What is the purpose of your actions and what do you hope to achieve?

I do not want to speculate on your motivations, but I will address the consequences of your actions. The "Hall of Pride" is not just a physical structure; it is a symbol of our school's values and achievements. It represents the hard work and dedication of our students, faculty, and staff.

You have defaced this hall, appropriating it for your own gain. This is not just a violation of property rights; it is an attack on the community's sense of pride and accomplishment.

I urge you to take responsibility for your actions and to return whatever you have taken. It is never too late to make amends. However, if you continue to disregard the community's feelings and continue to act in a manner that compromises its trust, you may find yourself facing legal consequences.

In the meantime, I urge you to consider the impact of your actions on others. The "Hall of Pride" is a shared space, and its deterioration affects everyone who contributes to it. It is not just you who lose in this situation; it is the entire community.

I hope that you will reflect on the consequences of your actions and take steps to rectify your mistakes. In doing so, you can demonstrate your respect for the community, its values, and its accomplishments.

Car Problem:

Leave the Lawn

Do you want a parking lot directly in front of the new student center? Do you want to look out over the parking lot and see cars instead of a lawn? How convenient would it be to have the board of trustees on the lot as the final word that the parking lot be there? And if the lot were there, would the students be satisfied?

Why do we need a new parking lot? Because there is a lot of student interest in the parking lot, and this interest extends well beyond the new student center. The parking lot as it now exists is not sufficient to accommodate the large number of students who need space to park. In addition, there is a lack of parking in other parts of the college, and it is not absolutely certain that a walkway will be required.

We are pleased to announce some interesting news that our students may not enjoy. We have finally determined a location for the new student center, and it is near the parking lot. This location will be used for the future parking lot and it is not absolutely certain that a walkway will be required.

With these previous mentioned petitions, if we are successful in the near future, we may see a classroom and a large auditorium across Pierce Street and in the future that these will require parking room. Some concerns that we must be sure to look after are the nearness to the student government.

The position of senator in our student government is a very desirable one. It is a position that is considered by the students as a stepping stone to a career in politics. The position of senator is also considered by the students as a stepping stone to a career in politics. The position of senator is also considered by the students as a stepping stone to a career in politics.

By Ray A. Adam

The student-faculty council discussed the church roll call system. Student-Parent Councils

The student-parent councils are considering a proposal for a more frequent roll call of students. This system may be used by the church for the purposes of determining the need for additional services or to evaluate the effectiveness of the current services.

New Words?

Reptilian Response

In a letter to be published next week, a member of the Town Hall meeting meeting will discuss the issue of treating reptiles with confidence and respect, and have them do unto you. Few situations can be more challenging or more rewarding than those involving reptiles. When one realizes the sense of honor that children and youth are taught to have around them, it becomes clear that hissing should not be allowed around you. This should be done to avoid any further misunderstanding. Few persons will be more than happy to make another attempt and hope that the situation will improve. This is akin to the personal satisfaction that one gets when they are paid a compliment. A business administration major at the University of Washington dental student.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Miss Von Achen:

Thank you for your recent editorial regarding certain questions with which I have been dealing recently. As a professional student and veteran of several student groups, I believe that we should all be aware of the dangers of rumors and the need to differentiate between what is real and what is not. The recent rumors about the school's financial situation and the rate charged per month are completely unfounded. The percentage of students will be off campus or too busy to notice the important issues.

Given this information, it is clear that the students need to be invited to a Town Hall meeting where they can have their say. Any member of the ASLSC should feel free to attend this meeting and express their views on important issues.

Sincerely,
Thorn Miller

Let’s Not Forget It

"Let’s put a little "humanity" added in, and the music lifted. A 910-student attending at Wake Forest College, and its library hours, is gobbled under the North Carolina stars.

This area, usually called the Student Union, Magazine, No. 17, 1964, was not a fanciful social occasion but simply a discussion of the Student Life. The Baptist Student Convention, which contains Wake Forest, has in the past few years seen a good-sized increase in the number of students attending. It is the belief of the Wake Forest and the Baptist Church is more modern than traditional.

Wake Forest is a 2,950-student liberal arts college with enrollment of 1,350. All students must attend chapel twice a week and take two semesters of religion. The Baptist student body is about 75 percent and only thirty-five of the Wake Forest teachers are Baptist.

In the past, the Wake Forest student body was composed of students from all parts of the country. Student workshops, such as "The Owner of the Five and Ten Cent Store" and "Rotary Club," are popular among the students.

For some time now, LSC students have been protesting against the required attendance on religious services. Many students at the church asked for their release from the church and have been given permission to do so.

The protest has been going on for some time and few students have been expelled. The school has been ready to accommodate students who have requested to attend church, and has offered a wide variety of religious services.

The news from Wake Forest should make it obvious that the school is trying to accommodate the students. They have decided to discuss a problem openly and accept the final decision of the students.

Wake Forest should teach us to accept new ideas.

We should contemplate whether our actions might be the first step on the path to socialism. It is the belief of the Wake Forest that socialism is an inevitable part of human progress.

What are the words of warning of those who may be tempted to try socialism? It is the belief of the Wake Forest that socialism is an inevitable part of human progress.

The student body of Wake Forest College is not the only one to be considered in the evaluation of the school's policies.

It is the belief of the Wake Forest that socialism is an inevitable part of human progress.

The Student-Faculty Council agreed on a recommendation to the administration to distribute a message about the importance of joining the Student-Faculty Council.

Label for the related character categories are approximately 3,000 entries for a total of 600,000 readings, 250,000 intensive readings, and 1,000 entries for a total of 1,000 readings. Dr. Nelson says.

DR. NELSON was in Japan and the Far East from 1914 to 1933 as a missionary. To Japan and to people he has studied Japanese culture. He also studied English and the study of Chinese, through his study of Japanese.

Car Dodgers:

Dry, But Dangerous

During Christmas vacation some La Sierra college students will be driving along the roads. They will use the 12-hour drive of Christmas learning to learn how to drive better. Supervisors Darlene Perino did not break her leg by stepping in the middle of the line.

Miss Perino and a friend, Joelle Nichols, were walking in the street, on the side nearest the tennis courts. The time was 3 or 4 P.M. It is not unusual to see LSC students walking in the road. When classes are over, sometimes the students use the outside lane for a sidewalk. This experienced pedestrian had been given the street instead of the sidewalk. She was returning from her English class.

"Do LSC students like to walk in the street?" No. They prefer to walk in the pedestrian lane, if they are not trying to get to the tennis courts or back to the on-line dorms.

Janet Wilson, who was walking in the street, was talking to friends. She could not be reached for comment. The street was empty but Miss Perino would probably agree it is safer than walking on the sidewalk. The sidewalks need to be improved, she said. She was not out of place in the street. She was used to use the outside lane as a sidewalk. She was not trying to get to the tennis courts or to get to her dorm. She was just walking in the street, going from her English class.

Student Center: A Job Completed

This issue of the CRITERION originates in a bright new office, with sturdy new doors and cabinets. There are bookcases that look out into the student center and offices to the valley below and the hills beyond. There is a change from our exile in the temporary La Sierra Hall. We breathe fresh air again and we are grateful for it.

The passing of the old CRITERION building has created much commotion. There was some dissatisfaction and a disturbance when the CRITERION was closed for a few days on your behalf. We were afraid that the CRITERION was going to close. Everyone who had been involved in the CRITERION has worked hard to make this happen.

Most students in the project have worked hard to make this happen. Everyone has contributed to the success of the project. Everyone has worked hard to make this happen.

The CRITERION will be published every week. We are grateful for everyone who has contributed to the success of the project. Everyone has worked hard to make this happen.

The reserve fund was used first, with the center plans being made, and the campaign goal had been collected, and as the campaign went

The SENATE approved preliminary plans Feb. 10 which included incorporation of the snack bar, location of the center, halls, off sets, etc. In a letter to the administra tion, the administration agreed to be responsible for all building, furnishing and lighting the center, except in the center proper, and sidewalks the track bull. Letters To The Editor

The Student-Faculty Council is a powerful campus organization and is doing a very respectable job in its role of bringing about an understanding between students and major campus organizations. However, the recent attempt to formulate the Student-Faculty Council has failed to support that vision, as evidenced by the following statement.

Should the Senate take direct action on an honor system? This was the first and only question put on a vote by the Student-Faculty Council. The question was put to the Senate because it is a concern of the Student-Faculty Council. The Senate has no right to pass a bill that would interfere with the student body's rights.

There should be a new student worker policy to protect the feeling of the student body. Do we really need new working policies every year? What is the point of the student worker if you can have time to discuss the problems and weaknesses of the student organization? Please! Don't carve!

The Senate has passed working policies for seven different organizations this year: the Leadership Commission, Student Senate, Christian Life Commission, Student Council, Tutoring Commission, Publications Board, and Morse Center. And the entire ASLC is to make these policies in existence by now.

It is unfortunate that every year a new work policy is put to the student body. Do we really need new working policies every year? What is the point of the student worker if you can't discuss the problems of the student organization? Please! Don't carve!

A study of the changes made in the working policy shows that the Senate could have been made to pass this policy by three to two persons in a one-hour session—or not made at all. What is the point of the student worker if you can't discuss the problems and weaknesses of the student organization? Please! Don't carve!

The Senate becomes a force in leadership which is present in the student body in many ways. It is present in the student body. It comes out of the student body and starts making sure that every aspect of the student body is present in the student body. The Senate is present in the student body. It comes out of the student body and starts making sure that every aspect of the student body is present in the student body. Please! Don't carve!

The Senate needs time to discuss the problems of the ASLC organization and find ways to solve them.

The challenge and the goal of the Senate, the CRITERION, is to be the voice of the student body. Let's not forget that. It is up to the student body to make sure that the Senate is present in the student body. Please! Don't carve!

Student Government:

Senate? What's That?

The letter from Senator McCarthy printed in this issue answers many questions for us all. He shows that it is ridiculous to suppose that the student government should be an organ on an arm such as the honor system. But just as art is a start of self-expression, so, too, is the function of the Senate.

When you resign from the senate earlier this year partly because he felt that it was not a fun- gible and worthless organ to be used to spend his time.

Ralph, chairman of CCL, asked the question. "What happens if the senate doesn't do my working policy?" The Senate has not moved to pass the senate because it has no time to discuss the problems and weaknesses of the student organization. Please! Don't carve!

The Senate has had 11 meetings this year and only one of them was about working policies. It would really be a challenge to make that one meeting to pass the senate because it has no time to discuss the problems and weaknesses of the student organization. Please! Don't carve!

Please! Don't carve!

Dear Miss Maldonado,

I am writing to tell you how much I have enjoyed your column. It is about the only thing that keeps me going through the day. I am a great admirer of your work and I hope you will continue to write for many years to come.

Sincerely yours,

Aid for Education

President Johnson's education message went to a Congress largely deaf to the siren songs of a 30-year crusade to make education a fundamental right. The new education bill is entitled as a violation of the freedom of religion clause of the Constitution.

Various Catholic voices have been insisting, as many other groups do in their own way, that "religious freedom" means freedom to practice, rather than the "separation" of church and state. The Second Vatican Council of the Catholic Church pointed to the fact that the Constitution's "establishment clause" is concerned chiefly with how the state and church are to relate to each other, not to the public school system itself. The "separation clause" is concerned with the public school system, not the state and church. The Supreme Court has interpreted the establishment clause to mean that "no preference or advantages may be given to any religious training or worship." This interpretation of the establishment clause is at odds with the Constitution itself.

Tops record

Second semester enrollment at Sierra College for the year 1965-66, announced by Robert L. Osmunson, director of admissions, was 1,016. This is an increase of 106 over the fall of 1964. The enrollment has been increasing steadily in recent years, and is expected to continue to do so.

ASC倒入ED that the enrollment has increased by 106 since the last meeting of the board of trustees, and that the increase is due to the efforts of the alumni council, who have worked hard to promote the college.

Hard Decisions

The editorial in the last issue of the CRITERION on rail to parochial schools focused attention on a problem that almost 96 percent of the parochial school children in this country face.

The AdvoCat position on the subject also deserves some comment. However the Walla College CRITERION in a recent editorial, "The AdvoCat position on the subject is somewhat unclear, and that the church would have to make more decisions for education in the absence of the federal aid in the future. The federal aid was seen as a "kick," but the CRI TERION position on education was not directly addressed.

Dr. R. H. Bietz has set up a committee on Government Grants and Science. The committee's purpose is to look into the financial situation of the school and present policy recommendations to the faculty council. This is a significant step toward a more informed decision-making process.

The AdvoCat is not alone in its concern. The president of the school, R. H. Bietz, has stated that "We will use every possible means to obtain the needed funds." The council "will use every possible means to obtain the needed funds." The council has set up a committee on Government Grants. The subcommittee of this group has had proposals before it. The subcommittee is now considering the proposals for federal aid for the next academic year.

The problem isn't a simple one. If we fight the government, we run the risk of losing the case. If we don't fight, we risk losing the battle.

Good Resolutions

Happiness is, as any smart student will tell me, the most important thing in life. It is the key to success in school. The problem is, however, that most students do not know how to achieve happiness.

It is easy to see why. In high school, students are forced to do lots of things that they don't want to do. They have to take classes that they don't like, they have to study for exams that they don't want to study for, and they have to write papers that they don't want to write. All of these things can be very stressful and can make it difficult to be happy.

On studying, it is important to make a plan. You should make a schedule of what you need to do each day, and then stick to it. This will help you to stay organized and on track.

It is also important to make sure that you are getting enough sleep. Sleep is essential for learning, and if you are not getting enough sleep, you will not be able to concentrate on your studies.

If you are tempted to skip a class today, take note: it costs a student $1.44 for each 50 minutes. The amount would have been $10,520. But it would have taken time to build also. It took three men, each getting paid $10.00.

What to Do in Case of Fire? Cao Outlines Rules

La Sierra College will have regular fire drills, beginning this month, in accordance with fire insurance company regulations, says R. J. Cao, head of the LSC security patrol.

THE INSURANCE company requires one fire drill per month for each building because of the size of the campus LOC will have three fire drills per semester per residence hall and one drill per academic building per month for each building. The hall is La Sierra Hall, the residence hall for senior and junior business majors, and the academic building will be the library.

In La Sierra Hall, occupants may use the four exit doors and have the exits marked as follows: one in the front and one in the rear. A companion could enter from one way, exit by the other to show there is a break in the line. The door to the rear should only be used in emergency situations. Fire drills are to take place on the second floor while all the classrooms are in use.

Chinese New Year Described

By HILTON and
JOANNE JONES

For centuries the Chinese have had the lunar calendar. Highly sacred for the English and Irish, children disliked their best and brightest decorations in the New Year.

The last day of the lunar calendar is a festival of the dead. It is a solemn day for the relatives of the deceased, who are remembered with the burning of paper money, incense sticks, and food offerings. The event is called the New Year's Day of the Dead. People worship ancestors who have passed away.

In preparation for the Chinese New Year, families conduct a thorough housecleaning to remove all evil spirits and welcome the New Year. This includes sweeping, dusting, and airing the home.

Many Chinese families display red lanterns and red paper-cutting on their doors and windows. These decorations are believed to repel evil spirits and bring good luck.

In addition to the traditional decorations, the Chinese New Year is also celebrated with special events like parades, dragon dances, and fireworks.

The Spring Festival, also known as the Chinese New Year, is one of the most important holidays in China. It is a time of joy and renewal, and it is celebrated with special festivities.

New Horizons: A College Church

It looks as though there won’t be any ASLC elections this year. Instead the ballot may just have yes or no for the “YES” or “NO” vote of a single candidate for each office. By Tuesday, the last day for voting, there will be no official count either for yes or no. The voting booth will be open so one seeker, except that of senatorial-age, where from one will go to cast a vote.

Obviously many students don’t feel that student government is worth their time. Either they aren’t interested in their church and friends and studies to be concerned, or they feel that student government could be made something worthwhile.

Appeal toward student government can only be made by first understanding the needs of the student. We just sat down and say that the ASLC can’t accomplish anything worthwhile, that the club is a bunch of weak-kneed hyenas lacking in energy and ambition. Last year’s student center effort didn’t have the support of the student body and thus was unable to obtain the money needed.

What kinds of goals can we set for next year?

For one thing, LSC students need their own church. This is not to say that the current situation is unsatisfactory. Lee Stright’s church for college students would certainly have benefited.

First of all it would give students experience in administering a church. Students could act as treasurers, clerks, deacons and church officers. Secondly, this church could be used to meet student problems and interests. Students could express their ideas and responsibility in their church instead of working the temp-touchy situations in an established community church. CSL and to be more interested in their church program.

If this investigation, this idea proved practical and desirable, there would be plenty of work for a college church building. It would also be necessary to see the student government of the board and the Southeastern California Conference.

If the initial obstacles could be surmounted, the project could be both a sound and worthwhile undertaking for the ASLC.

Another area in which student government could be involved is the foreign students. La Sierra La Sierra students, the interested and interested students. We can be involved in activities and programs to see if I am elected? The new student center is an accom-

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

We are writing to you in order to bring the following points to your attention.

1. We feel that the current administration is not doing enough to promote the interests of the foreign students. We believe that more efforts should be made to involve them in the decision-making process of the student government.

2. We also feel that there should be more opportunities for foreign students to participate in extracurricular activities. This would help them to feel more welcome and integrated into the student body.

3. Finally, we would like to see more emphasis placed on cross-cultural understanding and respect. This would benefit all students, not just the foreign students.

We hope that you will take these concerns into consideration and work towards implementing these suggestions.

Sincerely,

Candidate for Senate

My, my, such weather. It is only by accident that the paper got out this week with half the staff sunburned so badly they couldn’t type or the other half staying home with a headache.

This climatological phenomenon known as springtime is responsible for some of the most dangerous and their are meteorologists who believe that the combination of temperature and humidity during a calm spell can be so great as to cause newborn babies to be born with the need to breathe. The present situation is no exception to this general rule.

The College of La Sierra is trying to keep the students busy during this time of year by sponsoring a variety of events and activities. Among these is the Springtime Festival, which is scheduled for this weekend.

Talent Rewarding

It is delightful to note after all our troubles have been punished, that the talent committee has a success, that there were 24 performances, a machuca, an annual play, and a scientific conference, three hours, and a large and appreciative audience.

The program grossed $460 and gave out $15 in prizes. The program included music, dance, and other various items of interest. Of course, there were also the usual number of commercial sponsors. The committee reserves the right to speak up, however.

The program was certainly a credit to Bob Neuman, who put into it just about all of his enthusiasm, and to every performer who took time out from their regular activities to practice and prepare for a talent festival.

Play in Offing

For several years now the news stories and headlines about the school papers have used the euphemistic term "speech production." This editorial is about the "play" that will be staged here tomorrow night and Sunday.

There are several ways to view this particular play. First, it is one of the few in so many ways it is a serious on the most misunderstood man that ever lived — Jesus Christ. It is a religious drama, but in so many ways it is a drama. In other words, that rehearsal sessions were often begun with prayer, and that there was no room for free expression of any kind, no reason why? The play certainly has a message, and if it is not clear, then there are many people in jobs of people in words of practice, it had better be important.

The February issue of Ministry magazine, the official publication of the Adventist Church, arrived in the mail box. On its back cover about the dramatic presentations of Bible stories, it is stated that all that has been done with the Jesus Christ: the story of His life and the message of salvation. The message is important. The key element in my make-up is to make the message clear and that is an important function of the drama. It is to explain the drama and what the audience is supposed to get out of it. The message is a very important one, and the audience is supposed to get that message out of it.

The play can be evaluated in terms of the theological overtones and implications of the assertions made. The play is based on a script that is supposed to be a historical document and the audience is supposed to get the message.
A second son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Pogue, on March 9, to the delight of eight pounds, three ounces and measured 20.59. Ralph, campus director for the women’s cross-country program, said that stretches from Pruis in Idaho and includes the Monument Valley Mission Church.

CRITERION—Dr. Walden, could you tell us what prompted you to begin this study?

WALDEN—We don’t really know for sure, but a survey was taken back in 1956 or 1957 by Dr. Frank Lemon at Loma Linda University. And it was brought to our attention by a student, and we thought it was pretty interesting. And it’s been involved in studies of the living habits of Seventh- day Adventists for the past 20 years. It has well substantiated his statement.

CRITERION—Why are there so many, in the light of what we know now?

WALDEN—Well, first of all, it also shows the basis that Seventh-day Adventists are born with a tendency to eat sparingly of any meat.

CRITERION—Are there any other possible causes of cancer?

WALDEN—Yes. There are quite a few, and some areas. For example, the presence of fowl leukemia in specified areas is probably not possible. Deaconess Lemon has great faith in the ability of the medical community to do a responsible job and it would be in the interest of the ACM to help design that and assume the responsibility.

CRITERION—Furthermore, we’re not too exact about having the most of our meat products from LSjC. We heard in your study there was no cancer. Is this still true?

WALDEN—Yes, it is. We have been studying a meat-free diet for nine years now. Dr. Frank Lemon is the one who has to do the responsibility. For example, he had in his study, he later was quoted as being without question. Deaconess Lemon has great faith in the ability of the medical community to do a responsible job and it would be in the interest of the ACM to help design that and assume the responsibility.

CRITERION—What is the significance of this study?

WALDEN—We don’t know for sure what the significance of this study, but we are keeping on going with the research because of the lack of information.

CRITERION— Doesn’t the fact that Seventh-day Adventists do not eat meat have any significant difference in death rates among males who do not eat meat?

WALDEN—We have studies that show that Seventh-day Adventists, who do not eat meat, have a very significant difference in death rates among males who do not eat meat. Dr. Frank Lemon is the one who has to do the responsibility. We are keeping on going with the research because of the lack of information.

CRITERION—Dr. Walden, do you believe that there is a relationship between meat eating and cancer?

WALDEN—I believe that there is some relationship to meat eating and cancer. It is probably not possible. Deaconess Lemon has great faith in the ability of the medical community to do a responsible job and it would be in the interest of the ACM to help design that and assume the responsibility.

CRITERION—Dr. Walden, do you think that it is possible that the Seventh-day Adventists had a greater amount of meat eating than at present and have become more health conscious today?

WALDEN—Yes, I believe that it is possible that the Seventh-day Adventists had a greater amount of meat eating than at present and have become more health conscious today. We are keeping on going with the research because of the lack of information.

CRITERION—Dr. Walden, could you give us an example of a meat eating family that had cancer?

WALDEN—Yes, I believe that it is possible that the Seventh-day Adventists had a greater amount of meat eating than at present and have become more health conscious today. We are keeping on going with the research because of the lack of information.

CRITERION—What do you think are the main values of student evangelism?

WALDEN—First of all, it is easier to establish the fact of faith and assume the responsibility.

It is impressive to get high scores on the super-english test, but the effect of cramming has made us more creative thinkers than Robinson.

Praise for Staff

Since this is the last editorial column for the year, it is a good time for the editor to thank "in a lot of people who have done a lot of work."

First on the list is our news editor, Lillian Rice. Lillian Rice has spent the entire year digging through the news loads to find stories for the students in the college and the community. Twice a week, Miss Rice has had to come up with 24 pages of news during the first semester when there were 14 newswriters and 20 leads per week during the second semester when there were 8 newswriters and 40 leads per week during the first semester. Her persistence and dependability have made it possible for the paper to be sparing for every issue, and with sometimes as many as nine people involved, Miss Rice was in the newswriting class herself, two years ago. Her work was one of the highlights of my first year at the college.

The second person to be named is Kay Von Achen, the managing editor. Every Thursday night she had to go to the newspaper office and position the pages down at the Press-Enterprise Co. The ordnary had made it possible to be on time and some proofs, which started at 6:30 Thursday every Thursday night. Miss Achen worked a full-time job from 8 to 10 p.m. Miss Achen has also done a good deal of the work behind the scenes.

The third person on the list is Mary Jane Smith, the business manager. Miss Smith has had to keep busy all the time they are on duty. She has had to complete all the business work and long and long news stories.

The fourth person on the list, the pastime is done, Guy Whitham has been a help. Whitham has also chipped in with news stories, and has helped on Thursday nights with page make-up and general work.

Rex Moore, according to Prof. C. A. Oliphant, has been "the pillar of the ASLSC CREATION ever had." We尊重 with that opinion. Moore has brought in an average of 150 columns each month. We尊重 Moore for his efforts. The ASLSC CREATION budget only demands 153.

Lillian Rice has consistently written stories, sometimes as high as 251 columns. Rice is the best student writer the ASLSC CREATION has ever had in the black and gray color of her bylines.

Leonard Short, our feature editor, has been consistently producing feature stories with students interested with stories in interesting places. The newswriters have done a fine-rate job. Since they were in the initial planning stages, new students have moved in and it has allowed an important role in getting the All-American rating for the ASLSC CREATION.

What's in a Name?

By BETTIE MARKLE

"What's in a Name?" I don't know, but I do know that a person's name can be a source of great pride. I think that this is what made the name that was assigned to me at the time of my birth so significant. I was born with the name "Bettie." It's a name that has been a part of my life since I was little, and I've never been able to imagine it any other way.

But what about other names? How do they compare to mine? Other names might have different meanings or histories, but the fact remains that they all have a story behind them.

Devolutions

By ROY GRABILL

What was your favorite book that you read this year? What was your favorite movie that you saw? What was your favorite song that you listened to? These are all questions that we often ask ourselves. But what about your favorite column that you read? Why do you enjoy it? What makes it so special?

Letters To The Editor

Dear CRITERION,

I have a question about the CRITERION's opinion page. Do you have any plans for the future? I think that the CRITERION is an important part of the campus community, and I would like to see it continue to thrive.

Sincerely,

[Student Name]

Students Give Critter Once-over

By ANNIE MERCER

If you could change one thing about the CRITERION, what would it be? This year, I've enjoyed the Student Opinion column on the subject of the new exam format. I think it is important to have students express their viewpoint on issues that affect them.

What in the Name?

By LILLIAN RICE

Probably the most unusual name on the faculty is "Mr. Chips," who teaches English at the University of California, Berkeley.

Buggy Coed Tells All

By MARLYN K. KOELSCHE

Bugs are no longer just a threat to your favorite flower, but also to your favorite student. This year, the ASLSC CREATION has received a variety of reports about bugs from student witnesses.

College Criterion

The college CRITERION published 56 times each year, was founded in 1944. The current issue is dated May 24, 1965. Subscriptions to the CRITERION are $5.00 per year.

This year, the CRITERION has worked with the Student Information Service, the Junior Class, and the Senior Class to provide a wide variety of news and features. We're grateful for the support of these groups, and we hope to continue to provide quality coverage of campus events.

Letters To The Editor

Dear CRITERION,

I was surprised to see the article about the new exam format in the May 21 issue. As a student, I think it's important to have students express their viewpoint on issues that affect them.

Sincerely,

to achieve true expression in a painting we must first complete our specific objective. We must have the ability to reach the proper balance and perspective, that’s why we artists have such a high regard for harmonious balance, and the right objective and creative ingenuity that goes into the formula of a picture. WE MOTHERS KNOW that being "on the go" and "on the grow" are the most typical phases of family life. Children get so busy sometimes they don't even want to take time to eat. That could pose a problem were it not for those wonderful Worthington Foods! Breaded Choplet sandwiches for example, put an entirely different complexion on lunchtime for my family. Those Choplets disappear like magic and so do mother's worries about whether my children are getting the quality nourishment they need for active, growing bodies.
